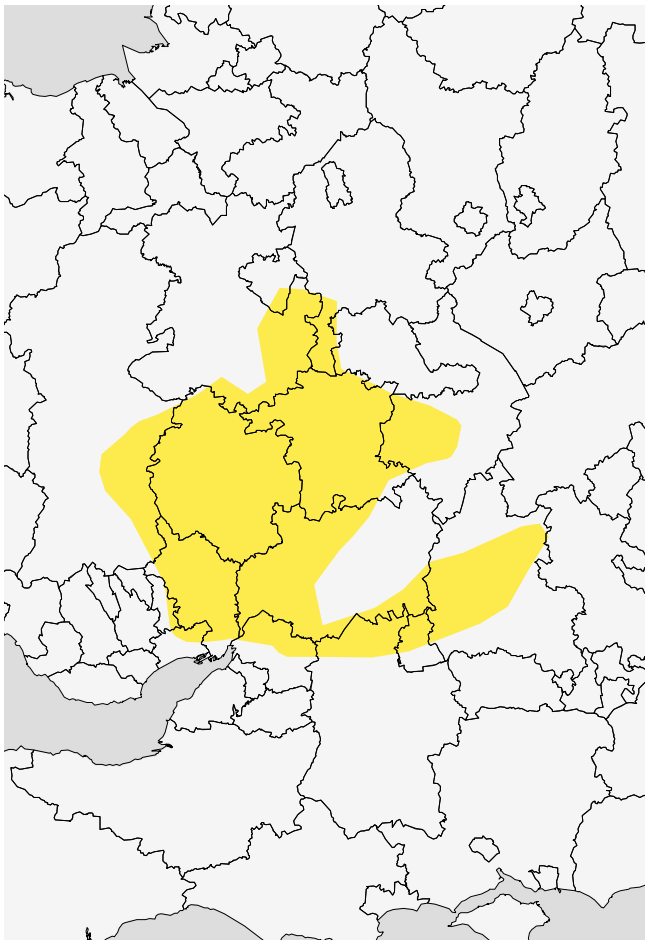
Yellow warning
Fog

Between
16:52 Sat 21 Jan 2023 and
23:59 Sat 21 Jan 2023



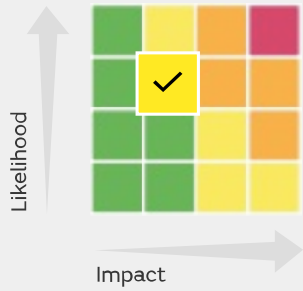
Freezing fog will lead to difficult driving conditions and could cause travel delays in some areas on Saturday evening.

What to expect

- Probable slower journey times by car, with delays to bus and train services possible
- Some untreated surfaces could become slippery, increasing the chance of either injuries or accidents
- There is a chance of delays to, or cancellation of, flights

Further details

Areas of fog, some of it freezing, are expected to continue to affect parts of the warning area during this evening and the first part of the night, probably becoming less widespread beyond midnight. The fog will be dense in places, with visibility as low as 50 to 100 metres, while some untreated surfaces could be icy. This combination will lead to potentially difficult travel conditions.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
